

With Silverman, yours is not just another jewelry sale...

Since 1945, Silverman Consultants has offered sales strategy and direction to jewelry store owners across the country. We've built our reputation successfully turning around businesses, selling off inventory, and liquidating entire stores.

Recognizing that each store has its own identity and market conditions, we work to develop a custom approach. We apply proven strategies to maximize revenue in times of transition, whether due to retirement, store closing, or a desire to boost sales. We know you value your business and reputation, and we work hard to guard them... just as we've protected ours for 65 years and counting.
